The vision of this year’s conference is to showcase the diversity of our region and our members. The preparation for the 2019 National ASLA Conference takes an enormous amount of time and effort to showcase our city, projects and our profession. Vicki Estrada, FASLA and I are Host Chapter Co-Chairs of this year’s ASLA national conference. We have worked to bring together the National and ASLA San Diego Chapter efforts to culminate in a “best ever” 2019 ASLA Conference on Landscape Architecture.

As the conference nears, the efforts become more time demanding. Without a doubt, all of our committee co-chairs have done an exceptional job in the preparation and coordination of their venues. Vicki and I could not be more proud of their hard work and unwavering support.

A New Name for the Annual Meeting

As we move into the early autumn season, there is general agreement from 'us locals' that this may be the best time of year in San Diego. The crowds and tourists have left the beaches, the 'zonies' are back in the desert and the weather is still pleasant. In mid-September, we celebrated the 40th year of the annual San Diego chapter golf tournament. A rousing success of fun and frivolity for golfers, tournament sponsors, and volunteers at the Maderas Golf Club. Tournament proceeds have been integral to funding our chapter outreach and community grant programs. This marks our Golf Chairman Phil Barnes swan song as tournament director. The chapter is looking for candidates to fill Phil's golf shoes in making tournament preparations and soliciting sponsors for next year. Please contact me or our Executive Director Tracy for more information.

With tongue-in-cheek, a lot of us like to tease the out-of-towners with the line... "I live where you vacation." San Diego has consistently ranked in the top ten vacation destinations in the U.S. This fall brings another opportunity for San Diegan landscape architects to boast about the beautiful place where we live and work - the 2019 Conference on Landscape Architecture. This event marks the national conference's return to San Diego with the rebranding of the Annual Meeting to the more salient Conference on Landscape Architecture. Your fellow chapter members have been busily preparing to showcase our green imprint on San Diego. Conference co-chairs Vicki Estrada and Martin Flores continue to put in long hours coordinating with chapter committees and national staff to ensure a fun and successful conference. Our chapter conference communication committee has been active in expanding and promoting our social media footprint, the chapter host committee has designed a fun and interactive host booth to welcome conference participants, our field session committee has been working for nearly a year vetting and selecting field site tours. Lastly, the legacy committee has worked diligently on community outreach and the design of our chapter conference project at Earthlab, a climate action park in San Diego.

The new conference name clearly reflects what has long been the largest gathering of landscape architects and allied professionals in the world--all coming to San Diego to learn, celebrate, renew relationships and strengthen the fellowship of our incredible varied professional community. Attending this conference has always been energizing and has given me exposure to interesting out-of-the-box thinking and innovations on the fore of our industry. We normally share the "why" of what we do. Through the field sessions and educational presentations we can discuss the "how and what" in meaningful dialogues. The conference not only provides an opportunity to renew friendships and interact with other LA's from around the country but also facilitates the welcoming of students and emerging professionals into our profession and allows them to begin building lifelong connections.

The 2019 ASLA Conference on Landscape Architecture will offer more than 120 education opportunities, allowing attendees to fulfill their professional development requirements over four days. You'll see the opening and closing sessions with keynote speakers covering green infrastructure solutions to combat the climate crisis; education sessions covering in-depth topics affecting landscape architects; project field sessions with trips across the border, to north county and into the desert; Professional Practice Network (PPN) education seminars that represent the major practice areas within landscape architecture; and workshop sessions covering topics like LARE prep and LAAB accreditation. You'll be able to visit the EXPO and engage in productive face-to-face interactions with product vendors and suppliers. Use the ASLA Conference meeting mobile app to build your onsite schedule, connect with other attendees and see an interactive map of the EXPO floor.

The opportunity to attend a gathering with professionals who don’t require me to explain what I do is, in itself, refreshing. Meeting new professionals and renewing old friendships is always gratifying. The few days we come together in the fall to share, learn and laugh is energizing and transformative. This year's conference in San Diego has a new name and a new schedule. One thing that won’t change is the fact that this event is the most important and rewarding gathering of landscape architects anywhere. I look forward to seeing you at the convention center November 15-18.

Trustee’s Report
ASLA Leading the Way in Sustainability
Patricia Trauth, ASLA, Trustee

Many of you may have heard about Nancy Somerville, our former CEO, and her termination. Under Nancy’s leadership, the Society has become more visible and is now a recognized leader and an effective advocate on climate change, active transportation, security design, and other issues critical to creating healthy and resilient communities. With its green roof, LEED Platinum certification, and pending WELL Building gold certification, ASLA has lived its sustainability values and is positioned as a leader and role model organization on sustainability. ASLA’s environmental leadership and community involvement has garnered awards and recognition from the District Office of the Mayor, the Downtown DC BID, the District Department of Energy and the Environment, and the National Park Service. She has held the CEO position for over 18 years and perhaps it is time for some fresh ideas and new leadership.

I heard from Curtis Millay at National, and at this time there is no update. We do hope to have some news about next steps in the next few weeks, and I will share that with you as I receive information. Please don’t hesitate to reach out with any questions or comments you may have.

Amazon Rainforest
ASLA is supporting our global sister organizations, led by Iniciativa Latinoamericana del Paisaje (Latin American Landscape Initiative, LALI) and the International Federation of Landscape Architects (IFLA), as they work to quell the flames, prevent further deforestation, and protect the Amazon Rainforest.

ACE Mentor Program
The August edition of Ask Me Anything featured the ACE Mentor program, with our very own Pat Caughy, FASLA, Shawn Balon, ASLA, and Anjelyque Easley, Student ASLA, and was hosted by Daniel Martin, Hon. ASLA. This Facebook Live event has been viewed more than 500 times since airing on August 21st.

Education and Practice
The ASLA Committee on Education and Practice and Practice PPN conducted a joint webinar focused on how ASLA members can get involved in the upcoming Landscape Architectural Accreditation Board (LAAB) accreditation standards revision process. Accreditation and Education Director Kristopher Pritchard presented an overview of the process and timeline for when comments can be submitted. More information about how to participate in the open call for comments on LAAB accreditation standards revisions can be found on the ASLA website.

The Transportation, Campus Planning & Design, Education & Practice, Ecology & Restoration, Sustainable Design & Development, and Women in Landscape Architecture PPNs held their monthly leadership team meetings. Most PPNs focused on confirming plans for their PPN meetings at the ASLA Conference here in San Diego.

Landscape Architecture Magazine
From September 15 - 23, LAM will join more than 180 news outlets and individual journalists worldwide in an effort called Covering Climate Now. The purpose is for each participating outlet to bring out its strongest climate coverage in the run-up to the United Nations Climate Summit in New York.

As always, feel free to contact me at ptrauth@rickengineering.com.
Community Grant
La Mesa Community Garden at MacArthur Park

Jose Aguila, ASLA, Vice President of Community Outreach

The American Society of Landscape Architects San Diego Chapter is happy to announce the winner of the 2020 Community Grant. The grant is made possible through the ASLA San Diego Chapter charity golf tournament and our sponsors. Many thanks to those sponsors, coordinators, volunteers, and participants who contribute each year.

This year La Mesa Parks and Recreation Foundation, 501c3, (Foundation) has been awarded our $5,000 grant for their project titled “La Mesa Community Garden At MacArthur Park.” The ASLA San Diego Chapter Community Grant will be used to create the first community garden of its kind in La Mesa, which will be located at MacArthur Park.

“The goal of the community garden is to improve residents’ quality of life by nurturing the community’s physical, mental, and social health through growing and sharing healthy food. The grant funds will be allocated as seed money for the garden’s start-up, to include community outreach, design workshops, preparation of the garden master plan and construction drawings, and construction of a portion of the garden infrastructure, grading, fencing, and demonstration beds.”

Per the grant application, the educational component of the grant is twofold. The Foundation will be working with Helix High School CAD and environmental science students throughout the design process to expose them to landscape architecture. The students will also be helping with the public workshops, site analysis, base map preparation, and design and layout. Beyond design, they will be involved in the implementation, education, and long-term maintenance as the garden develops. Community members will be invited to attend classes, workshops, and garden-related events.

Kathleen Brand, PLA, member of ASLA San Diego Chapter, and a La Mesa Community Services Commissioner, will lead the design process. Per the Foundation, she has extensive experience working with students, installing and managing school gardens, and leading community workshops.

The new garden replaces a “monoculture of Bermuda grass and palm trees,” a remainder of the former golf course landscape, and transforms it into a distinct landscape of vegetable, flower, and pollinator gardens. Per the Foundation, the project will include a diversity of plant material, on-site composting, and water-efficient irrigation, as well as demonstrate best management practices for stormwater management and infiltration.

The Foundation explains that the garden has a board of directors that will be responsible for the ongoing organization of the garden and continued fundraising for further expansion and future improvements. Visual documentation will be shared via the city website and social media to promote both the community garden and landscape architecture.

The renovation of the garden will begin in early 2020 with scheduled completion in December of 2020.

ASLA National Conference
Preview of Conference Presentation
Jim Taylor, ASLA and Katie Seidenwurm, ASLA

Local ASLA members and landscape architects Katie Seidenwurm ASLA (Zinnia Design), Jim Taylor ASLA (The Lightfoot Planning Group) and Courtney Skybak, ASLA (Samuel H. Williamson Associates, Portland Oregon) will be leading an educational session that explores recent trends towards other uses for the front yard landscape. Both Katie and Courtney focus the bulk of their professional work on residential design. Their work covers the many functions of the front yard garden. Jim’s perspective comes from his many years of working with Homeowners Associations and their role in preserving community character.

Their session will be held on Sunday, November 17 at 3:30 pm, Room 29CD. Come on by and support your local members. ASLA National has chosen this session as a recorded webinar that will be available after the conference for those who will not be able to attend the event. Stay tuned to ASLA announcements for instructions on how to access the recording.

The Session will explore the evolution of the front yard garden from the more traditional uses as simply a display garden to recent trends such as creating gathering spaces to foster community, creating edible gardens and installing more sustainable gardens. The session will cover how and why these changes have occurred. In addition, there will be discussion at the end of the session exploring what the Landscape

Architect’s role is in the change. The session is a must attend for all Landscape Architects seeking to understand this trend towards more useful front yards. Attendees will gain insight on how to create beautiful, sustainable and functional garden spaces.

Before Improvements: Traditional front yard with lawn and display foundation planting

After improvements: Gathering space, patios and drought-tolerant plants.

The Cultural Landscape Foundation
What’s Out There Weekend
Amy Hoffman, ASLA HALS Chair

HALS San Diego subcommittee members have been working closely with The Cultural Landscape Foundation (TCLF) to organize the upcoming What’s Out There Weekend (WOTW) San Diego.

This will be an exciting event that will take place on the weekend of October 26–27, 2019, with a launch event in Balboa Park on Friday the 25th. The tours will correspond with the publication of various weekend-related materials, including an online city guide and a printed guidebook made available to attendees of the ASLA Annual Meeting and the wider public.

Throughout the What’s Out There Weekend, we expect over 1,000 people to participate in free, expert-led tours of more than two dozen sites that demonstrate the region’s diverse landscape legacy, encouraging participants to discover the little-known design history of places they may pass every day, including sites in Balboa Park, La Jolla, Downtown, UCSD, and North County.

To date TCLF has created online guides and guidebooks for 15 cities in the U.S. and Canada. ASLA San Diego is a generous sponsor of this year’s weekend and the guidebook.

Other sponsors include: The Balboa Park Conservancy, the NEA, Bartett Tree Experts, Burton Studio, Civitas, Coastal Sage, Coldspring, KTUA, Park West, SOHO, Victor Stanley, Brightview Landscape Development, Groundlevel Landscape Architecture, OJB Landscape Architecture, Rios Clementi Hale Studios, AHBE | MIG, Schmidt Design Group, Spurlock Landscape Architects, and USA Shade and Fabric Structures.

Tours are free, but registration is encouraged. The schedule can be found at https://tclf.org/whats-out-there-weekend-san-diego

Legislative Update and Elected Official Site Tour

Joy Lyndes, PLA, ASLA

Our California state lawmakers have been busy in Sacramento, crafting new legislation to serve their constituents. Our California Council of ASLA (CCASLA) has been tracking these bills with the help of our CCASLA lobbyist. Our CCASLA goals are:

To work together with our state’s four ASLA Chapters to advance the profession of Landscape Architecture in the state as an instrument of service in public welfare and to serve as the coordinating council in the state for our various Chapters. -- http://cc-asla.org/about/

We’ve had good fun and conducted some effective advocacy in 2019!

CCASLA is composed of two directors from each California Chapter (Northern CA, San Diego, Sierra and Southern CA). We meet monthly, usually by phone, to discuss the progress of current bills. We coordinate and attend meetings with our legislators. Tracy Morgan Hollingworth is the CCASLA Executive Director (and is also our Chapter Executive Director), and is vital to our organization. Rich Risner serves as our CCASLA President and is our fearless leader.

TOP PRIORITY: Licensure Sunset Review Legislation Senate Bill 608 (SB 608)

This is the legislation which will enable our industry to keep our current licensing authority, the Landscape Architects Technical Committee (LATC), which is governed by the California Architects Board (CAB). Every four to five years the LATC produces a report on their licensure activities and the report is reviewed by the CAB and the Senate and Assembly Business and Professions Committees who send comments and questions to the LATC regarding any concerns or changes in consumer enforcement that should apply to CAB and LATC.

This sunset review cycle has resulted in adding a requirement for fingerprinting of new landscape architect and architect licensure candidates. The LATC and CAB are both in support of this addition and see it as a customary requirement for other licensing entities in the state. The fingerprinting requirement would apply to new applicants for registration only. SB 608 (which contains licensure extensions for several agencies) was heard by the Senate and Assembly Business and Professions Committees. As of this writing, SB 608 just passed out of the Assembly Appropriations Committee. Next it will go to the assembly floor for a vote. Once it passes the assembly, it will return to the senate for a concurrence vote on the fingerprinting amendments and from the senate to the governor for his signature.

Another bill that we are tracking is a “two-year bill” (meaning it is not moving forward in this legislative cycle, but may move forward next year) addressing Conflict of Interest – AB 626.

The AB 626 Bill Summary:

Current law prohibits members of the legislature, and state, county, district, and city officers or employees, from being financially interested in a contract, as specified, made by them in their official capacity or by any body or board of which they are members, subject to specified exceptions. Current law prohibits an officer or employee from being deemed to have an interest in a contract if the person’s interest is one of certain types. This bill would prohibit an officer or employee from being deemed interested in a contract, as described above, if the interest is that of an engineer, geologist, architect, land surveyor, or planner, performing specified services on a project, including preliminary design and preconstruction services, when proposing to perform services on a subsequent portion or phase of the project.

In other words, firms that do preliminary/initial phase work on a project have been “conflicted-out” of doing future phase work on that project. This bill would remove that conflict, allowing a firm who does preliminary/initial work to be considered for and contracted for future phase work.

We have been in support of this bill along with the ACEC (American Council of Engineering Consultants) and AIACA (American Institute of Architects California) as part of the coalition that is supporting the bill. The coalition is mobilizing their members to encourage the author to continue to move the bill. We are open to input and invite you to please contact me at jlyndes@coastal-sage.com if you have any comments or input on this bill.

Take a moment to look at the legislation that we’re tracking in Sacramento this year on the CCASLA website (www.cc-asla.org/cc/wp-content/uploads/2019/04/2Q-Bill-Tracking-Report.pdf) and know our four chapters are looking out for you and our profession.

Congresswoman Susan Davis Tours the Civita Project

Glen Schmidt, FASLA (Schmidt Design Group), Brett Allen, ASLA, SD ASLA President-Elect (Van Dyke Landscape Architecture) and Michael Brennan, SD ASLA Past President (Carson Douglas Landscape Architecture) took Congresswoman Susan Davis, District 53 on an informative tour of the Civita Project in Mission Valley on August 27, as part of ASLA National’s Legislative Site Visit initiative during Congress’ summer recess to raise the visibility of landscape architecture with our elected officials.

SDG lead the landscape architectural design and provided insights into the design process of the Civita Amphitheatre, Children’s Play Area, Walking Trails to the Civita Community Garden and Phase II of the project, which is to become a thriving residential community in Mission Valley. For more information on Civita go to www.civitalive.com.

ASLA 40th Annual Golf Tournament
We Had a Blast!

Tracy Morgan Hollingworth, ASLA Affiliate, Chapter Executive Director

Our 40th Annual Golf Tournament, with the theme of Save a Horse – Ride a Golf Cart, was a blazing success with the excellent coordination of our Golf Tournament Chair Phil Barnes, ASLA (Burton Studio), who is hanging up his tournament spurs (or spikes) and is ready to mentor a new tournament chair in 2020. Our Chapter thanks Phil for the many hours of golf tourney coordination these past three years including contacting past and new sponsors and coordinating the players for maximum fun on the course. Many thanks also to the excellent, professional staff at Maderas Golf Course who made the Friday tournament run smoothly.

The following players were awarded prizes at the tournament awards dinner.

1st place with a score of 56
Tim Josse  Kirk Howe
Steve Serrano  Jake Boyer

2nd place with a score of 57
Southwest Boulder and Stone

3rd place with a score of 58
Daryl Green  Kim Goldenstein
Phil Armstrong  Marc Moody

Closest to the Pin
Men - Victor Klemaske
Women - Cheree Lovell

Long Drive
Men - Marty Armstrong
Women - Cheree Lovell

Putting Contest
Men - Mike Cannan
Women - Elaine Sitz

We couldn’t manage the tournament without the help of the following tournament volunteers, Brett Allen (VDLA), Erin Hagen (Calsense), Jo Baumgartner (Concrete Contractors Interstate), Andy Stack (USA Shade), Ryan Kim (Spurlock), David Skalda (Avalon Amenities), Chris Roesink (Hunter Industries), Michael Watts (Michael Watts and Associates), Rania Theodosi, Saul Parra-Caravantes and Marisela Garcia Chaired (Southwest College LA Students).

Check out the fun we had in our Golf Tournament photo gallery located at https://www.asla-san diego.org/40th-annual-golf-tournament/.

Thank you to the following firms (shown on map below) for their generous support. Special thanks to Eldorado Outdoor our Golf Tournament Title Sponsor.

Vision
A world where the built and natural environments coexist in harmony and sustainable balance; where all peoples can express their diverse heritage and their individual desires to grow and thrive; and where we, as a profession, can substantially contribute to the process of achieving these ends.

Mission
To lead, to educate and to participate in the careful stewardship, wise planning and artful design of our cultural and natural environments.
