Despite what feels like a comprehensive cancellation and postponement of most business and recreational events, San Diego ASLA is keeping a calendar of events moving.

2020 Excellence in Design Awards Reimagined
Virtual Awards Event, July 9, 5:30 pm
The ASLA San Diego Design Awards are the ultimate recognition of design achievement for firms and projects in the San Diego region. The awards celebrate the innovation and creativity of practitioners whose work is in San Diego County and around the world.

Event Master of Ceremonies, Roger Showley, will announce our 2020 Design Awards recipients, the honoree of the 2020 Stewardship Award and pay tribute to icons in the landscape industry.

Pre-Register at https://www.brownpapertickets.com/event/4612874 before July 9 and look for a registration invitation from the Chapter to register via Zoom. Questions? Call 619.283.8818 or email ASLASD@sbcglobal.net.

Virtual Sketch Class via Zoom Tentatively Scheduled for July 24
An online event is being planned for our San Diego ASLA community, where a local sketch artist will lead a live drawing and watercolor learning session. Please keep your eyes open for updates on our regular e-mail blasts to chapter members, as well as the chapter web site event calendar https://www.asla-sandiego.org/current-news/.

Encinitas EcoFest, Tentatively August 23
EcoFest Encinitas is an environmental fair focused on North County San Diego. Its purpose is to inform and inspire the community about recent progress, practical solutions, and new opportunities for improving eco-sustainability in government, business, and non-profit organizations.

Enjoy exhibits from local environmental organizations, sustainable businesses, and local agencies. Check out the latest in clean transportation and housing, and relax in the tasty food and libations garden! SD ASLA is recruiting volunteers to staff a Chapter booth. Contact ASLASD@sbcglobal.net if you can volunteer a couple of hours.

EcoFest will take place at Encinitas Community Park. Please wear masks and practice social-distancing. Watch for updates on the Facebook group page (https://www.facebook.com/events/2385737458368194).

The last few months have been immensely tough on the field of landscape architecture. Job sites are shut down, clients are putting projects on hold, office managers are seeking forgivable loans, and firms are having to make tough decisions on personnel to keep projects flowing. Working, parenting, and sheltering in place have all been mixed into a mess of just trying to keep up while keeping a positive outlook on things.

Despite all of this, your San Diego Chapter has been moving ahead and making our own tough decisions on programming and allocation of resources. Board members have always been welcome to call into meetings so that they can meet their other obligations, so the transition to virtual meetings has been seamless. Our decision to push our Design Awards and other events into the virtual world was difficult but necessary to maintain everyone’s safety while not putting additional stress on our members.

That being said, our chapter is committed to celebrating the great work of our members in the near future. We reset the 2020 Excellence in Design Awards event to July 9, 2020. If this newsletter gets to you by the end of June, pre-register for this free virtual event on our website by July 1 to receive the link to join us via Zoom.

We also want to take care of our students, many of whom are losing out on internships and first jobs if they recently graduated. National ASLA has taken the generous step of making student memberships FREE! For our part, we are working on a virtual office tour program that will highlight a handful of local offices, share stories of their employees, their specialties and projects for students to preview.

Our Executive Committee is seeking nominations for new board members for next year. We know that in times like these, membership in a professional organization might need to take a back seat to maintain work and families, let alone volunteering. Our chapter leadership does its best to tailor responsibilities to the capacity of committee members. Please download the 2020 SDASLA Executive Committee Board Nomination Form on our website. I am happy to talk with anyone who is interested in joining us!

Lastly, I would like to note that this is our last paper version of the quarterly newsletter. In an effort to combat the over 15.2 billion pounds of paper waste generated by the United States on an annual basis we will be switching to a digital version. I would like to extend a special thanks to our newsletter contractor, Jerrie Beard, for her many years of commitment to our chapter and her exceptional work on our newsletter. Thanks Jerrie!

CCASLA Legislative Update

DJ Taylor, ASLA,
CCASLA Director

The California Council of ASLA (CCASLA), which is comprised of two members from each of the four California chapters, serves our membership by monitoring legislation and the lawmaking process taking place in our State’s Capitol. The CCASLA works with legislative advocates to assist in determining what position to take on Assembly Bills (AB) and Senate Bills (SB) that might have an effect on the profession of Landscape Architecture in California. Those positions are generally watch, oppose, or support.

UPDATE ON AB 5

What is AB 5 (2019)? The three-part test outlined above does not work perfectly when applied to all industries. Accordingly, Assemblymember Lorena Gonzalez introduced AB 5 in 2019 to exempt certain industries/employees from the three-part test above. An exemption from AB 5 means that a business is subject to the previous multi-factor “Borrello” test, which is easier to meet to maintain independent contractor status.

AB 5 was an extremely contentious bill last year. Assembly Member Gonzalez was very resistant to adding exemptions into her bill. Nevertheless, she will continue to work on the issue in 2020 and has introduced a bill (AB 1850) to further refine who is and is not subject to “Dynamex.”

How is the Dynamex Decision/AB 5 Enforced?

When a worker believes they have been misclassified as an independent contractor, they must bring a lawsuit against their employer or file a wage claim with the Labor Commissioner to enforce their rights under the statute created by AB 5. This means that a landscape architect contracting with another landscape architect would be subject to enforcement of AB 5 only if the LA you are contracting with believes they should be classified as an employee and is willing to take you to court or file a wage claim with the Labor Commissioner.

Landscape Architects are not identified as exempt, but there is language in current law (created by AB 5 in 2019) that exempts business-to-business relationships that meet certain criteria. CCASLA has consulted legal counsel to understand if the business relationships practiced by landscape architects meet these criteria. We will update membership when we learn more.

This bill essentially provides for streamlining reciprocities of licenses for military veterans and active duty spouses. There was concern by the CCASLA that this bill might allow for reciprocity without the completion of the California Supplemental Exam (CSE). In short, working with our legislative advocates, we were assured that all requirements for licensure (including the California Supplemental Exam) would still need to be met for reciprocity to be granted.

The LATC meeting that was scheduled for Friday, May 29 at UC Davis has been tentatively rescheduled to Friday, September 4. For more information, please visit the LATC website at www.latc.ca.gov.

If you have any questions, you can contact Joy Lyndes (jlyndes@coastal-sage.com) and/or DJ Taylor (djtaylor@delorenzo-intl.com).

Aside from the above issues, the CCASLA and its legislative advocates are also monitoring the bills listed below.

Do Landscape Architects look like me?

Join SDASLA and The Landscape Architecture Foundation (LAF) this summer for a “Think & Drink” – a timely discussion on diversity, equity, and inclusion in the Landscape Architectural practice. A date is TBA so watch our email blasts and website for information.

During the summer of 2019, LAF conducted surveys focused on diversity, equity, and inclusion (DEI). The data was analyzed to produce key takeaways:
• Landscape architects and firms overwhelmingly value DEI but note additional resources are needed.
• Landscape architecture should work toward building trust with women, people of color, LGBTQ people, and people with disabilities in our ranks.
• People may feel comfortable sharing their whole identity in their workplace, but not when working with certain clients or in specific regions.
• There appear to be barriers to licensure for designers of color.
• Most firms considered the educational pipeline to be their main barrier to achieving DEI, but few had formalized policies that would promote an equitable and inclusive workplace.
• Most firms provided internal mentorship programs to support emerging designers in building relationships in the workplace as well as the knowledge and soft skills needed for leadership.

Join us as we hear the results of the survey, conduct a discussion amongst LAF, ASLA Fellows and members of SDASLA and other chapters. Voice your concerns and let LAF know what resources may be needed to support inclusive firms, achieve diversity and trust in our workplaces and opportunities for all.

“We understand that being well-versed in diversity, equity, and inclusion is a core competency for landscape architects,” said LAF CEO Barbara Deutsch, FASLA. “We want to know what opportunity there is for capacity organizations like ours to offer support to individuals and firms. We are looking to understand what resources are needed to support inclusive work environments, remove barriers, and create opportunities for landscape architects throughout their careers.”
Trustee’s Report

New ASLA Leadership Announced

Patricia Trauth, ASLA, SDASLA National Trustee

This is a bittersweet moment for me as I write my last newsletter article! The Chapter will be going with an on-line format starting this fall. Back in the 1980’s, the San Diego Chapter had a Newsletter Editor position, which I held for several years, and that is how I got involved in ASLA. I would drive over to Jerrie Beard’s office on Redwood Street and hand deliver paper copies of the articles. This was before the internet!

We had our Trustees Meeting April 23rd through the 25th via Zoom, which worked quite well. Here are some of the highlights:

- Washington DC is licensing landscape architects.
- Students can now join ASLA free of charge.
- ASLA Emerging Professionals Medal is a new honor that recognizes outstanding contributions of emerging leaders in the field.
- Waiver of Dues is available due to COVID-19 hardships. Contact Chapter President Brett Allen for details at ballen@vdla.us.
- Vice-President terms have been extended from 2 years to 3 years. Many current vice presidents expressed their opinion that 2 years is not long enough to accomplish their goals.
- ASLA National continues to work toward the classification of landscape architecture as a STEM designated degree program.
- The ASLA Annual Meeting and Expo is scheduled for October 2nd through the 5th in Miami Beach.
- Congratulations to Finance VP-Elect Tamas Deak, ASLA; Membership VP-Elect Bradley McCauley, ASLA; and Professional Practice VP-Elect Adrian Smith, FASLA.
- Lastly, I am pleased to report that Eugenia Martin, FASLA, has been elected 2021 ASLA president-elect. Jeannie is from the Ohio Chapter and most recently held the position of Vice President of Government Affairs.

Rob Hutsel: 2020 Stewardship Award Recipient

Design Awards Committee

In 2000, after a sewage spill dumped 34-million gallons of sewage into the San Diego River, Rob Hutsel moved from part-time volunteer to full-time advocate for one of San Diego’s most significant ecological and historical sites. A year later, he co-founded the San Diego River Park Foundation (SDRPF), which he continues to lead as President and CEO. Since its inception, the SDRPF has had a tremendous impact on the health and well-being of the San Diego River watershed, as well as the larger community of San Diego. Rob’s dedication to the restoration of the river, conservation of its wildlife, and creation of a river-centric community has earned him the moniker “River Rob” as well as a great deal of trust and admiration from the San Diego community.

For nearly two decades, the San Diego River Park Foundation has been dedicated to fostering stewardship and appreciation of the region’s namesake waterway. Rob’s tireless activism within the SDRPF has inspired a renewed commitment within the San Diego Community to protect and enhance the San Diego River as a place for recreation, habitat, and nature discovery. Rob, his staff, and SDRPF volunteers are dedicated to engaging residents and community leaders to be stewards of the river with a grand vision; a 52-mile, river-long system of parks, open spaces, and community places. With Rob Hutsel as the driving force, there is little doubt that this green ribbon will soon serve to connect and unify the regional landscape and serve as a source of local pride for future generations.

Rob Hutsel’s impactful efforts over the last two decades have been to preserve the San Diego River as a natural and cultural resource. His work is healing the river watershed habitat and unifying community members around the river through the creation of a comprehensive river park system. Like the San Diego River itself, Rob is an amazing and beloved asset to our community.

Our Chapter can’t think of a more deserving nominee for the SDASLA Stewardship Award. Congratulations Rob Hutsel as our 2020 Stewardship Award recipient.

Virtual Office Tours Throughout 2020

Adapting to changing conditions, 2020 Chapter President Brett Allen has adapted his original plans for a firm outreach program into a virtual office tour program for 2020. We’d like to invite members from local firms to document what your firm does by providing a video tour of your offices and relating your day-to-day experiences and workflows. These videos will be shared with the greater chapter membership and landscape architecture students who are looking for potential internships and job opportunities after they graduate. We hope that this inspires a better-connected local industry and increased membership participation! If your firm wishes to participate, please reach out to Brett Allen at ballen@vdla.us.

Spotlighting San Diego

Chapter Sponsors Throughout 2020

San Diego ASLA wants to honor our annual and event sponsors by exposing their unique portfolio of specialized products and services to a broader audience. Sponsors are encouraged to send product and service information so we can feature them via our e-mail blasts and spotlight services in our new e-newsletter which will be launched in September.

Another great avenue for sponsor exposure is online webinars of how to establish, install, or maintain products, especially during the pandemic. For a great example, the Kompan outdoor playground and furniture company has a series of webinars ranging from tips on designing playgrounds to product safety (https://www.kompan.us/webinars-events). If you have online demonstrations of your products and wish to highlight them, send your product or services information to President-Elect Chris Stebbins (urbanplazas@gmail.com) or Chapter Executive Director Tracy Morgan Hollingworth (ASLASD@sbcglobal.net).

SDASLA 41st Annual 2020 Golf Tournament - Tentatively Scheduled for September 21

Maderas Golf Club, our tournament venue, has opened and is scheduling players and adapting to health rules for tournaments with a number of sanitary and social-distancing measures in place. As of the time of this writing, we are in the midst of an online survey to determine whether our 2020 golf tournament will still be scheduled for September 21. The survey results will be found on the events calendar page on our September 21 event listing.

We invite you to recommend topics for distance learning and how the Chapter can help your firms during this challenging time. Watch for new events on our website and in our email blasts.
